

Dear students, colleagues and friends,

I am sorry to announce that the Fall/Winter term will be my last with the West London School of Oriental Dance. It has been an immense pleasure dancing with all of you and I have treasured every moment spent working with this school. For various reasons, I have decided to take a break from bellydance during 2012. I will not be teaching, performing or attending dance events next year; a strange yet exciting thought after so many years of living and breathing bellydance. This was not an easy decision to make but in the end, I had to follow my heart. I hope you all understand and in the meantime, I'm coming up with lots of great ideas for my final term of classes with the WLSOD. Yalla-- let's dance!
